1. THE RADIO:

Description: The radio is a mass communication medium that can be heard through multiple channels and devices, be it the computer via online, through an app, a vehicle or a traditional radio. This communication medium will bring us the opportunity to access a very broad public. Through this communication medium, activities, events, job opportunities and training for participants, and/or employers will be published. In the case of this medium, the local radio stations must be identified to give priority to those that impact our region.

Committee responsibility: The Committee must analyze the radio station(s) that better connect with clients, participants, and or employers. For that analysis, the radio stations will be requested to bring their demographics with timeline and scope in those regions. This will be done to select the radio station or stations that better adapt themselves to the Local Area needs when searching for candidates. Priority will be given to broadcasters in our region for the spreading of our services.

2. SOCIAL NETWORKS:

Description: Posting on the social networks is of utmost importance, because they impact a robust group of young users that keep themselves active and do not use the traditional communication media. Social networks are seasonal and changing; everything is based on promotion and its users' utilization. It is noteworthy that the social networks are the main source of information for youth, adults, and the unemployed, so using this tool will be of great benefit to the organization.

Committee responsibility: The Committee will analyze the social networks with the greatest impact at the time of need in the Local Area. In order to achieve reach, more than one social network may be used to spread the services.

WRITTEN PRESS/NEWSPAPERS:

Description: The press is a traditional spreading medium that impacts all sectors. At the present, the press is a medium that uses more than a way for its publishings (written press and through its web pages) this way achieving the increase of the spreading impact.

For the regional newspapers it is feasible to publish press releases of public interest at no cost, therefore, priority must be given to this medium.
